⁜ A ROUND OF TALK. ⁜

It is Coming.

By Blue G. Bard.

When the little weeds and grasses
Thrust their heads above the ground
And the farmer burns his plant-beds,
Spring is surely hovering round.

When we hunt up last year's tackle
Count our poles and lines all o'er.
It may not be exactly springtime
But it's hovering round the door.

When we feel that fellow feeling
As if all the world were good
Tis the near approach of springtime
Planting flowers in the wood.

As the flowery host advances
Sullen winter before them flies
Like the money from the pocket
Of men who do not advertise

BUILDING— Although last year was an exceptionally prosperous one for the town as regards building and public improvements the coming summer season promises to be a very active one in that line and there are busy times ahead for the contractor and the carpenter and the brick mason. Work will begin immediately on the new Masonic building on Main street and it will be rapidly pushed to completion. This will be a good substantial structure of brick and stone and will be quite an addition to the business part of the town. The lower floor will be used for the Post Office and will be commodious and fitted out with all conveniences. The most important building and the most costly in the town, with the exception of the Hotel Walton, will be the new graded school building. Architect Mc Donald of Louisville has been contracted with to complete the plans and it is to be hoped to have the building complete and ready for occupancy by the time for the opening of the school session. Besides these public buildings the erection of a number of residences is contemplated by various citizens.

REED—Lieut. Will Reed of this place who has been with the U. S. Army in the Phillipines is either on his way with his regiment back to this country or will be in a few days. A press dispatch from Ft. Mead, S. D., which appeared the other day stated that the Thirteenth Infantry which has been stationed at that point had sailed for Manila to take the place of the Sixth Cavalry which had sailed for San Francisco. The Sixth Cavalry is Lieut. Reed's regiment and it will be stationed at Ft. Mead after returning to this country. Mr. T. W. Reed of this place father of Will Reed received a letter from his son a few days ago in which he stated that his regiment would sail on April first, so in any event he will again be on native soil in the course of six weeks or two months- A particularly sad feature in the home coming of Will Reed will be when he learns of the death of his mother. Letters conveying the sad news of the death of Mrs. Reed to her soldier son will not reach him before he sails and probably the first information he will get will be after landing in San Francisco

CANDIDATES. — The State Democratic Primary will certainly have the effect of making the various candidates get about some and put some of their money in circulation while becoming acquainted with the great common people, The good citizens and democratic voters of Washington county have within the last few weeks doubtless received more distinguished and harty handshakes than for many days, and candidates cards and pictures are as common on telephone poles and at cross-road stores as horse and jack bills in the spring of the year. Fortunately, however, the average candidates' stay at one place is necessarily limited and is not often that the public is called upon to listen to an address on the "public and political issues of the day." Occasionally however, when one who is good at speechmaking, like Col. Bill Thorne for instance, comes along and demands an audience. but on the whole the primary candidate is only able to touch lightly in the high places and the voter has only a flying meeting with him and as for the floater it seems that he is not "in touch" at all.

BONDS—The Trustees are preparing to issue the $14,000 bonds of the Springfield Graded School district immediately and as there has already been a good deal of inquiry from prospective purchasers of the bonds no trouble is anticipated about disposing of them to advantage The Secretary of School Board will receive sealed private bids for the bonds to be opened on March 25 and the securities will go to the highest and best bidder. The bonds will be dated May 1st, 1903 and due in twenty years after date and bear interest at the rate of four or five per cent payable semi annually.

Tragedy Averted.

"Just in the nick of time our little boy was saved" writes Mrs W. Watkins of Pleasant City O. Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Wakeful Children

For a long time the 2 year old child of Mr P L McPherson of 50 N Tenth St, Harrisburg Pa, would sleep but 2 or 3 hours in the early part of the night: which made it very bad for, her parents. Her mother concluded the children had stomach trouble and gave her half a dose of Chamberlains Stomach and Liver Tablets which quieted her stomach and she slept the whole night, She is now well and strong. A Popular Auctioneer

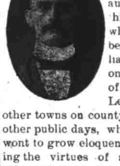
Probably there a very few of our readers who at first glance at the accompanying picture will recognize in it the classic features of Col. R. E. Whayne the popular auctioneer of his county, who has long been a familiar character on the streets of Springfield Lebanon and other towns on county court and other public days, where he is wont to grow eloquent in extolling the virtues of a spavined piece of horseflesh or the merits of a yearling steer which is about to be sold at a bargain. The Colonel being strictly a man of the people and a worker without any aspirations to pose as a dude rarely appears in a "dressed up" costume, but on the occasion of the taking of this picture he was on a kind of holiday and appeared in his best 'though not most familiar clothes. Col. Whayne is probably known to and knows as many men in Washington and adjoining counties as any other one man and always has a scheme for the turning of an honest penny



Mr, I N Snow, an old and well known merchant of Jackson Mo says. "I have been a sufferer from bladder and kidney trouble for years, While I have not lost any time from my business it was an exertion to attend to it I had no appetite and was losing flesh- I did not feel sick but had no ambition and energy, I began using GAY-U-BA and continued till I had taken 6 bottles and now I feel like a new man, I have gained 10 pounds and feel bright and active. SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

A Load of Tobacco, Wagon, Horses and All Sunk Out of Sight.

A accident that resulted in a serious pecuniary loss to a poor hard-pressed tobacco grower and which came near resulting in the loss of a human life is reported to have occurred on one of our county turnpikes one day last week.

The particulars which have been gathered from various sources more or less reliable are about as follows. Mr. Weed Grower is a hard working and industrious tobacco raiser of the northern part of the county. He like every other tobacco man who is a success toils early and late and in all kinds of weather to get his plants out, to wage war on the persistent and destructive tobacco worm and to get his crop safely housed Mr. Weed is moreover a good citizen who has paid his taxes without a grumble a portion of which he understands is to go towards keeping the turnpikes of the county in repair. In this latter proposition Mr. Grower is especially interested. for he has contracted to deliver his crop of tobacco to the warehouse of the Continental Tobacco Co., at Springfield and he wants a good road over which to travel.

At last when he has stripped and bulked his tobacco down he and his boys get out the best wagon and see that everything is in readiness for the trip to town. The best team of horses is brought out and the tobacco carefully loaded. So busy has our worthy friend been with his work for several months that he has not had occasion to travel the turnpike which passes his home for any distance but he does not doubt the ability of his faithful team to haul safely to its destination the precious load which represents a year of toil and means everything to himself and family.

The start is made and as our toil-worn friend cracks his whip over the backs of his faithful bays visions of happiness at his humble home which will be occasioned by a few little comforts and luxuries which he purposes to purchase with the proceeds from the sale of his tobacco when he has reached his destination. The day dream of Mr. Weed Grower however was destined to be most rudely and cruelly broken He had not counted on the pitfalls At a point only a couple of miles out from the county seat the horses stepped into an innocent looking mud puddle in the middle of the road. They began to flounder, the wagon with its heavy load suddenly lurched forward into the abyss. With great presence of mind Mr. Grower swam for the top and managed to scramble out. The mud and water silently closed over the wagon and team and also over the unfortunate man's hopes and happiness

The latest report about Mr Weed Grower is that he is looking for a county where a system of road repairing is carried on.

High Priced Fish.

Judge Nunn delivered an opinion in the Court of Appeals one day this week affirming with damage the judgement of the Hardin Circuit Court in the case of the Stephensburg Lake Co. vs. I C R. R. Co. It will be remembered that in June, 1901. a wreck occurred near Stephensburg and that oil and molasses from tanks and cars of the road ran into the lake killing about 20,000 pounds of fish. S. D. Glasscock and thirty others, constituting the Stephensburg Lake Co., brought suit in the Hardin Circuit Court through their attorneys, Sprigg and Chelf, in the same year and obtained a judgement for $750. The affirmation of the Court of Appeals this week meets with the approbation of the people in the Stephensburg vicinity, and is quite a victory for Sprigg & Chelf.—E'Town News.

Sitting within ten feet of Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan at the Ohio Club banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria, I could not help thinking of the power represented in that one fist when he struck the table with his hand in approving applause. His short cropped gray hair, sparkling dark eyes, shaggy brow, and his bull-dog mouth gently shaded by a dark mustache —there was a man of international renown and power and perhaps one of the greatest financiers the world has ever known. Mr. Morgan has a way of gripping the big black Mexican cigar which he smokes (no banquet brand for him) rolling it around in his mouth—blowing out the smoke with the force of a locomotive, grasping it between first and second fingers—even in the repose of the banquet hall. These are some of the minute mannerisms which mark the man who plays for any stake short of the universe. His keen eyes followed the speaker's — and his smile in a nod of recognition to a friend was fascinating. On each of his small fingers he wore a seal ring. His necktie was a simple white one, over the stand-up, white winged collar, In his button-hole a crysanthemum. After all, a primitive man in his tastes and manners, but dynamic in every move and gesture.—From the National Magazine.

Remarkable Shower of 1856.

It is an absolute fact that it rained knitting needles here in the year 1856—at least no one has been able to account for their presence unless they got here in that way. The strange part of the phonomenon is that they were found only in the eight acre lot on Factory street where the ice factory and lumber yard are now located. During the night a heavy wind and rain storm passed and in the morning it was discovered that the lot was literally covered with thousands of needles stuck slantwise in the ground. Many people visited the scene the next day, coming from all parts of the county and nearly everyone carried away a handful of needles which in that day were a necessary adjunct in every household Judge Cardwell who was then a small boy tells us that the morning after the shower, his neighbor and chum Dallas Chinn came over to tell him of the wonderful thing that had happened and they both hurried to the lot and got an armful of them and afterward wore socks knitted with them —Harrodsburg Herald.

Lebanon Locals.

From the Enterprise.

Mrs. Bettie Irvine died at the home of her sister Miss Flora Hood in this city, shortly after 1 o'clock last Friday morning March 6, 1903. Deceased was the daughter of the late Mrs, Ann Hood and was a cultured, refined lady. For more than six months she had been suffering from a complication of diseases, and death came as a relief to her suffering. In the early 70's she was united in marriage to Mr. I Shelby Irvine, one of Richmonds most prominent business men, who survives her.

James Wathen. 76 years old, who lived with his son on the old Clem Hill farm near Sulphur Springs died suddenly Monday of this week. Accompanied by two little grand-daughters he had gone to the woods to cut timber, and while thus engaged in stooping to pick up a piece of wood, he fell to the ground never to rise again. When his son reached him life was extinct and death had probably been instantaneous with the fall. He had been subject to smothering spells for some time. The coroner's jury returned a verdict that his death was due to heart failure.

Dr. R. T. Hodgen met with a painful accident Thursday afternoon of last week, which has kept him confined to his home since then. While returning from the farm of his son, Mr. Marion Hodgen, on the Bradfordsville pike, his horse became unmanageable and ran off, over turning the buggy. The doctor became entangled in the vehicle and was dragged some distance before he was able to extricate himself. He was considerably bruised but no bones were broken, and his many friends hope to see him out again soon.

Mr. C. B. Johnson, the well known hardware dealer of this city filed a deed of assignment in the County Clerk's office on Tuesday. Mr. John McChord is the assignee The liabilities are in the neighborhood of $12,000 while the assets are probably half that amount. The assignment came as quite a surprise to the people of Lebanon who had no reason to believe otherwise than that Mr. Johnson was doing a thriving and profitable business He has been in the hardware business for many years and was thoroughly familiar with every detail of the business. He was a public spirited citizen and took an active interest in every question of public benefit. He has a host of friends who deeply regret his misfortune and hope that he may soon experience a change of better luck.

CARDWELL.

A Breezy Letter From the Little Town in the Big North.

Seeing nothing in your paper from this place, I thought it might escape the waste basket, should I send you a few lines. While we are situated in the extreme north east part of the county twenty miles from Springfield, and after we leave our pike it is almost impossible for us to get to Springfield without being stuck in the mud, yet we are proud of our citizenship and feel to boast of being a humble part of the great county that bears the name of the Father of Our Country, Washington, but when we think of our possibilities owing to our great advantages, the christian, intellectual charocter of our citizens, the fertility of our soil with the many natural blessings of the great Creator of the Universe, we must acknowledge us unfaithful stewards. Let us remove the reproach by arising in our might, repairing our pikes, building new ones. placing good bridges across our creeks and rivers and many other things we might mention for the general upbuilding of the county

In order to do these things, first, we must have an easy and open communication with one another and take an interest in public affairs and all pull together in the struggle for religious, moral; social and commercial advancement, we surely soon would take our proper place at the head of the advancing column, But should we continue in the same course we have been going for some time: taking no interest in our county, none in our county roads, no interest in our county paper, soon we will have no law, no roads, our best citizens will sell out and go elsewhere. Then our schools and churches will go down, our lands will decrease in value and the language will be fulfilled in us "From him that hath not, even that which he hath shall be taken away."

Without casting any reproach upon others, we do say our pike here is kept in better condition with only the $20 per mile than others that are allowed $60 It does seem that $60 per mile ought to fill up a few mud holes at least. Our suggestion would be to go back to the overseer system, get a business man as overseer, make him give bond for the fulfillment of duty, pay him for his time and let him execute the work with the same business sense and economy as he does his work on his own farm. If this was done, I believe the matter would be settled.

Dangers' of Pneumonia.

A cold at this time if neglected is liable to cause pneumonia which is so often fatal and even when the patient is recovered the lungs are weakened, making them susceptable to the developement of consumption: Foleys Honey and Tar will stop the cough heal the lungs and prevent pneumonia Sold by Wood and Campbell,

Played With Abe Lincoln

Louisville Times: Capt. John H. Weller returned to-day from Edmonson county, Ky., where he attended the funeral of his uncle William F. LaRue aged ninety-four years, a Kentucky pioneer. Mr. LaRue was born in LaRue county on Nolynn creek and was a playmate of Abraham Lincoln. His family settled in Kentucky in 1784 and has lived there continuously; Mr. LaRue was a life-long member of the Baptist church and was baptised in that faith in 1828. The remains were interred in the Silent Grove churchyard seven miles from Rocky Hill, Edmonson county. and was attended by a large concourse of citizens. Mr. LaRue had lived in Edmonson county for half a century] He was a widower and left no children. Col Martin LaRue of this city is also a relative

Twould Spoil This Story to tell it in the Headlines.

To use an 18th century phrase this is an o'er true story. Having happened in a small Virginia town in the winter of 1902; it is a story very much of the present. Up to a short time ago Mrs, John E. Harmon of Melia Station Va, had no knowledge of the rare curative powers of Chamberlains Cough Remedy, Last January she says, my baby took a dredful cold and at one time I feared she would have pneumonia, but my neighbors told me how this remedy had cured her little boy and I began giving it to my baby and it soon cured her, I heartily thank the manufacturers of Chamberlains Cough Remedy for placing so great a cure within my reach. I can not recommend it too highly or say to much in its favor, I hope all will try it and be convinced. For sale at C. J, Haydons drug store

Horse Dropped Dead.

A rather unusual accident occured to Mr. John Smith and Eric Carrico on the 9th. They were returning to Fredericktown from this place and were four miles from home when the horse they were driving dropped suddenly and instantly died The buggy was upset but neither of the occupants were injured.

The horse was a valuable one and belonged to Mr. Smith.

Just after the accident Charlie Willett, a prominent trader of this county came up on horseback and hitching his horse to their buggy, took them to Fredericktown.

Pipe Line

From the latest information obtainable the Cumberland Pipe Line is completed about 90 miles out from Somerset, leaving about 18 miles of construction to Licking River yet to finish. Of the 150 miles of six inch line out from the Virginia terminus, about 75 miles have been completed. The probabilities of pipe line construction from Cooper to the Cumberland field during the next few months are fair, but this is yet largely dependent upon the discoveries which may be made by the drills. The extent of oil in Clinton and Cumberland may have to be shown up before this much-hoped for line is constructed. Drills are at work to do this and there seems little doubt in the minds of operators that they will "hurry the corps" as soon as conditions are favorable.—Somerset Journal.

Agony From Inherited Heart Disease.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me.

One person in every four has a weak heart. Unless promptly treated a weak heart will easily become a diseased heart. A little extra strain from any cause is sufficient to bring on this deadly malady, the most common cause of sudden death. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure will tone up the heart's action, enrich the blood and improve the circulation.

"My trouble began with catarrh and I have always supposed it caused the trouble I have experienced with my heart. I had the usual symptoms of sleeplessness, lost appetite, constipation, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath and pain around the heart and under left arm. My mother suffered in the same way and I suppose mine was an inherited tendency. At one time I was in agony. I suffered so severely and became so weak that my doctors said I could not live thirty days. At this time I had not slept over two hours a night on account of nervousness. The least exercise, such as walking about, would bring on palpitation and fluttering of the heart so severe that I would have to give up everything and rest. Nerve and Liver Pills cured me of constipation and heart symptoms disappeared under the influence of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. I am in better health than I have been in twelve years and I thank Dr. Miles' Remedies for it. I think they are the grandest remedies on earth and I am constantly recommending them to my friends."—MRS. L. J. CANTRELL, Waxahachie, Tex.

The Bachelor.

A western editor pays this tribute to a type which has not its fair share of song and story: "The bachelor represents the most congenial and big hearted type of our commonwealth. His name, while held in public derision by a host of people, will always remain closely interwoven in the history of pioneer life. He it was who pushed out into the wild and woolly west at a time when the buffalo, Indians and coyote were lords of the prairies and by persistent efforts and under privation and want led a heroic life by converting vast areas of the barren wilderness into fertile lands of peace and plenty. Then, without aid of feminine piety to keep vigil over his everyday acts, this sturdy empire builder remained at his post, blazing out the path of fame and introducing thrift and civilization in his wake. Like the cowboy he is slowly passing into history, but his fame is as farreaching as civilization, his name indelibly stamped on the pages of history, while the humble dugout with its original environments will appear in scenic pictures above the footlights of future generations."

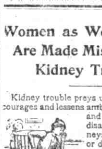
Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.



Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

NATIONAL PHANTOMS

GHOSTS THAT HAUNT THE UNITED STATES CAPITOL.

A Story of Spectres That Stalk at Night When the Halls of Legislation Are Gloomy and Deserted, as Told by One of the Old Guards.

Like most repositories of good stories the ancient man who has spent decades as a guard in the capitol in Washington did not yield up the fullness of his narratory riches without a struggle

"It's unpleasant to be made a mock of by the skeptical," he protested. "Do you believe in ghosts, young man?"

"If answering in the affirmative begets an interesting tale, I do," returned the writer.

"Well, starting on the premise that you do believe to some extent in the supernatural, I will admit you to my confidence," resumed the old guard, and here goes for the authentic yarn of the spooks that haunt the nation's capitol:

"In the long, monotonous watches of the night innumerable are the spooks, hobgoblins and the eerie, vapory things which glide from the shadowy nooks and crannies of the intangible nowhere to people the capitol's vast stretches of darkness. Of course you know of the extraordinary acoustic freaks which obtain in many parts of the great building—how a whisper, a breathed word at one particular point is audible at another scores of feet distant? Yes. Now, at night these acoustic spirits simply go mad. Where they by day were pygmies they expand into giants, and a whistle, a sudden sound, a footfall, resolves itself into a pandemonium.

"Weird, terrifying noises beat upon the eardrums of the watchmen as they pursue their lonely patrols through the seeming miles of corridors, and then the spooks, the shades of the nation's great, the astral bodies of those that toiled in obscurity for the nation's good, dodge the watchmen's step, some grand and awful in their speechless dignity, some creeping humbly about in apologetic silence, some laughing, some sobbing, but all of them horrible —horrible."

The old man paused to muse.

"Do you know," he said, breaking into his own reverie explosively, "Feb. 23 is a date dreaded by many of the capitol night guards? It was on this day, in 1848, that John Quincy Adams died in the chamber of the house of representatives, now Statuary hall, where the exact spot is marked by a brass tablet. Promptly at midnight on every anniversary of his death the shade of John Quincy Adams appears in a sort of phosphorescent glow over this brass tablet. Oh, dozens of guards have seen it from time to time as well as I, and I can refer you to many of them for affirmation of my assertions.

"Once over the spot the shade begins to gesticulate, after the manner of a member addressing the house. Then, all of a sudden, the fine face becomes distorted and agonized, the gracefully waving arms fall convulsively, and down sinks the shade with all the movements of an expiring man. Then the phosphorescent glow fades away, and the ethereal effigy dissolves.

"But, although lost sight of, its presence is still made known by the 'clump, flop, clump, flop,' of invisible footfalls departing down one of the long vacant corridors.

"Stranger than this is the ghost of the entire congress of 1848, which appears in vigorous if spooky session every once in awhile in Statuary hall, the old hall of representatives, as I have previously remarked. Inaudible, but spirited, are the debates; energetic to the bursting point of vehemence are the silent political dissensions. Provoked by a doubting Thomas, a member of the capitol night watch several years ago made affidavit that he had seen this ghostly congress in session. Yes, he was a sober man and true.

"The shade of General John A. Logan is a frequent visitor at the capitol. Almost every alternate night at half past 12 o'clock this ghost materializes at the door of the room occupied by the senate committee on military and militia. Silently the door swings open, and out steps the looming and luminous presence, to stalk in stately dignity away into the swallowing gloom. This is a favorite phantom with the guards. Its conduct is exemplary

"Then there is the shade of Vice President Wilson, who died in his room in the senate end of the capitol, you will recall. Its peregrinations are few and desultory. When it does come, there is always an expression of concern and self absorption in the ghostly face. The movements of the vapory body are restless and hurried.

"All of the older members of the night watch are well acquainted with Vice President Wilson's apparition and never fail to salute it, although, truth to tell, the shade remains haughtily in[illegible] rarely fails to put in an appearance when the body of a dead legislator or statesman of national renown is lying in state in the capitol.

"Deep in the subcellar vaults spooks of lesser magnitude revel in hordes. Immediately beneath the hall of representatives every night is to be found a tall, erect, gaunt specter, whose identity has remained a mystery for years in spite of unceasing efforts on the part of the night watch to uncover the secret of its origin and antecedents. Its hands are clasped behind its transparent back in a convulsive clutch, and the face evinces a condition of emotions prodigiously wrought upon. Many attempts have been made by guards with rubber soles on their shoes to catch this wraith unawares, but failure is the invariable result. Presto! It has blown into thin air before the sleuthing watchman is within forty feet of it."—New York Herald.

A Little Dinner.

An Englishman writing from France in 1830 gives this instance of appetite coming with the eating: "At my left at dinner today sat a very pretty young woman, opposite to her a young fellow, her cousin or lover. I heard them speak of their dejeuner a la fourchette (a meat breakfast). Yet, to my amazement, this delicate young person ate soup, beef, pate of I know not what, but it was said to be of brains, and they pronounced it excellent. A mackerel followed, then roast fowl, cresses, salad, kidneys, au vin de champagne, green peas with sugar and chevreuil, which the waiter offered to swear before a magistrate was real venison. To this mess the young woman added a quantity of new cheese thickly spread upon bread, filling up the time between each of the removes by scooping out the quarter of a very large melon; cherries, strawberries, biscuits (sponge cakes), each enough for an Englishwoman's dinner, and then coffee terminated the meal, to which, between her and her friend, they had only half a bottle of wine at 12 sous, but which they diluted with (in defiance of Abernethy's rule) at least a gallon of water. Of everything I have mentioned the woman had two-thirds. 'Repletion must have followed,' you will say. No such matter. They had scarcely washed their fingers when the couple started up and took their places in a quadrille set just formed."

Reed Enjoyed It.

Thomas B. Reed was once the victim of a printer's error the unusual aptness of which, after the first flush of indignation had subsided, appealed so strongly to his sense of the comic that he never failed to refer to the matter with the keenest gusto whenever he met the man whom he, with the utmost mock solemnity, always held responsible for it.

The late Colonel John A. Cockerill's handwriting in the heat of composition was sometimes liable to lose itself in an almost interminable tangle, decipherable only with the greatest difficulty. On one occasion he undertook to say that "any one can see Tom Reed has the face of an honest man," but was horrified when he opened his paper the following morning and found that the types made him say that "any one can see Tom Reed has a face like a harvest moon."

Wonders of the Human Heart.

The workings of the human heart have been computed by a celebrated physiologist, and he has demonstrated that it is equal to the lifting of 120 tons in twenty-four hours. Presuming that the blood is thrown out of the heart at each pulsation in the proportion of sixty-nine strokes of nine feet, the mileage of the blood through the body might be taken at 207 yards per minute, seven miles per hour, 168 miles per day, 61,320 miles per year, or 5,150,000 miles in a lifetime of eighty-four years. In the same period of time the heart must beat 2,869,776,000 times.

Arrested For Stealing

Our Pulliam correspondent sends us the following: This community was startled recently by the news that Preston and Milton Taylor had stolen about 500 pounds of meat from William Scott's meathouse and had also taken a horse and buggy from James Terrell. Terrell and Scott at once began search and overtook the men at Van Buren in Spencer county and after a desperate encounter the Taylors made their escape. This thoroughly alarmed the community and the citizens arose en masse and after a close search found the two men at James Terrell's where they were arrested and taken to Bardstown jail. These are the same parties wanted in this county on a charge of stealing meat from Luther Terrell in the fall of 1902, for which they would have been arrested had it not been for a lot of confederates who assisted them in making their escape

Washington Letter

The Senate is still in special session, but an early adjournment is expected. An agreement has been effected between the republicans and democrats for a vote on the Panama Canal treaty on March 17 and it is generally conceded that the convention will be ratified. The democrats will vote for two amendments, one providing for absolute ownership by the United States of the zone of Land through which the canal will pass the other eliminating that portion of the treaty which provides that the United States will at no time add to its territory at the expense of Columbia or any other South American republic. If these amendments fail a sufficient number of democrats to insure ratification will vote for the treaty as it stands.

The fate of the Cuban treaty is regarded as extremely precarious There are fifty-six republicans who would vote for the treaty if it came to a vote but there would be required for ratification a total of sixty, and it is claimed that the four democratic votes will be difficult to obtain. It is appreciated that if the republicans, who have promised to vote for the convention were sincere in its support they could accomplish its approval, but many of the high protectionists are at heart opposed to the agreement, although they are unwilling to vote against it. In any event it is regarded as almost certain that the treaty will not be approved without an amendment providing that its terms shall not go into effect until after the passage of an enabling act, thus renewing the fight in the next Congress.

Secretary Shaw does not regard as warranted the report which has been circulated to the effect that the payment of the price for the Panama Canal Company's property will cause a stringency in the money market and possibly precipitate hard times, He says that in ample advance of the time for the payment to be made, he will advise the banks through which the negotiations are to be conducted and that will not be until late in the summer so there will be an extensive credit due the United States in European financial centers, The banks so notified will promptly purchase European exchange and the $40,000,000 or 50,000,000 gold to be paid out of the United States will be added to the circulation in this country the actual purchase price being paid in American wheat corn etc

One of the most disastrous results of the filibuster during the closing hours of the Fiftyseventh Congress was the loss of legislation which had been already agreed on, opening up to settlement 2,150,000 acres of land in several of the largest Indian reservations. According to the plan agreed upon the government was virtually to act as trustee for the lands. They were to be sold to private individuals and the purchase price to be returned to the Indians Chairman Lacey of the committee on Public Lands was sorely disappointed at the failure of this legislation but predicts that it will be enacted early in the next session. One of the most important measures enacted in this connection was the opening of the gilsonite mineral lands of the Uncompahgre Indian Reservation in Utah. This reservation contains the world's total supply of this mineral which is a form of asphalt or pitch which it is believed can be most profitably used for paving roofing and similar purposes. The reservation also contains large deposits of elaterite which is used as a roofing varnish.

The President is making his plans for leaving Washington on his western trip on March 26th. He will be accompanied by Secretary Root and probably by other members of the cabinet, all of whom have been invited. The party will go at once to Colorado where an extensive hunting trip will be enjoyed, Mr. Roosevelt having been promised a more successful bear hunt than the Mississippi affair. From Colorado the party will go to Wyoming and then will visit a number of western states. Miss Roosevelt will leave soon for Porto Rico where she will be the guest of the Governor of that island and his daughter

The committee of the House of Representatives has selected the site for the proposed office building for members of the house, It is about 400 feet Southeast of the Capitol and fronts on the large square in front of the Capitol. It is planned to make this square the center of the handsomest group of buildings in the world. On the west side now stands the Capitol and one half of the east side is occupied by the Congressional Library. It is proposed to erect on the other half of the east side the Temple of Justice for the accommodation of the Supreme Court and on the north side an office building for senators, similar in architecture to that it is now expected to erect for representatives, It is under the center of this square that the tunnel by which the Pennsylvania railway will enter the city will be constructed.

THE FIRSTBORN.

Why is it that the firstborn child is so often the healthiest of a family of children? The reason seems to suggest itself. As child follows child the mother has less and less vitality; often not enough for herself and none, therefore, for her child.

Expectant mothers who use Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription find that it keeps them in vigorous health. They eat well, sleep well and are not nervous. When baby comes its advent is practically painless, and the mother is made happy by the birth of a healthy child. If you would be a healthy mother of healthy children use "Favorite Prescription."

"I will be very glad to say a few words for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs P. S. Douglas, of Mansonville, Brome Co., Quebec. "During the first four months, when I looked forward to becoming a mother, I suffered very much from nausea and vomiting, and I felt so terribly sick I could scarcely eat or drink anything. I hated all kinds of food. At this time I wrote to Dr. Pierce, and he told me to get his 'Favorite Prescription' and a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I got a bottle of each, and when I had taken them a few days, I felt much better, and when I had taken hardly three part of each bottle I felt well and could eat as well as any one, and could do my work without any trouble (I could not do anything before). I feel very thankful to Dr. Pierce for his medicine, and I tell all who tell me they are sick, to get these medicines, or write to Dr. Pierce."

Those who suffer from chronic diseases are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Wild Hog Chase.

Mr. Lambert Willett of this county is a proud possessor of a French bull-dog, formerly owned by Mr. Tom O'Keefe of New York. He was brought here and given to little Cameron Moore, but on account of being vicious was bought by Mr, Lambert Willett.

The dog, after having many hard fights with other dogs, and having killed two very fine ones the other day was called to capture a sow which had disappeared last October from Mr. Willets home, the owner having been notified that the sow had been seen in the knobs near Balltown. So in a few days Martin Greenwell, and Lambert, accompanied by Prince (the dog) started on the sow's trail. After three long hours of searching, they succeeded in finding the sow under some ceder trees, and to their surprise six good, sound pigs.

When the sow saw the boys, she started in one direction and the pigs in another, but she soon found herself in the power of Prince. The sow started to run around [illegible] when one of the boys caught her by the tail, which to his surprise was left in his hand, and the sow and Prince were left fighting a little way off.

The boys finally succeeded in tying the sow to a tree intending to return on the following day and take her home. The next day the boys returned to the spot and found that the sow had disappeared, much to their disappointment. The boys turned the dog loose and, after a while were rewarded by hearing the sow squeal. After much trouble with her, they succeeded in bringing her and one pig home; leaving the rest in the woods. After a good supper Prince was ready for another chase. Nelson Record.

Killed By Vicious Bull

Mr. John Rowe; one of the most prominent men in Hart county, was attacked by a vicious bull, while feeding stock at his home near Rowletts Wednesday [illegible] and was injured so that he died about five hours later.

Mr. Rowe although seventy-three years old was a vigorous man, and was able to look after the management of his large farm which he took a delight in doing. He went to his barnyard Wednesday afternoon late to feed the stock and while there he was attacked by the bull from behind He was tossed in the air and fell to the ground so badly shocked from the attack he was stunned and unable to rise. Before he could get up, however, the infuriated beast was upon him and gored and pawed him repeatedly until one of the farm hands with the assistance of a dog, succeeded with great difficulty in driving the bull off and rescuing the dying man Mr. Rowe was carried to his house where he lived about five hours, being perfectly conscious up to within a few minutes of his death.—Ex

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT THE GREAT FAMILY MEDICINE

Thedford's Black-Draught has saved doctors' bills for more than sixty years. For the common family ailments, such as constipation, indigestion, hard colds, bowel complaints, chills and fever, biliousness, headaches and other like complaints no other medicine is necessary. It invigorates and regulates the liver, assists digestion, stimulates action of the kidneys, purifies the blood, and purges the bowels of foul accumulations. It cures liver complaint, indigestion, sour stomach, dizziness, chills, rheumatic pains, sidache, backache, kidney troubles, constipation, diarrhœa, biliousness, piles, hard colds and headache. Every druggist has Thedford's Black-Draught in 25 cent packages and in mammoth size for $1.00. Never accept a substitute. Insist on having the original made by the Chattanooga Medicine Company.

I believe Thedford's Black-Draught is the best medicine on earth. It is good for any and everything. I have a family of twelve children, and for four years I have kept them on foot and healthy with no doctor but Black-Draught. A. J. GREEN, Illewara, La.

Hogs Scarce.

The scarcity of hogs throughout the country is causing the packers considerable anxiety. The visible supply this year is millions of pounds less than 12 months ago. Commenting on this fact, General Michael Ryan of Cincinnati says: The price of pork will increase There is a scarcity of hogs in the market. There is 17,000,000 pounds less pork on hand now than there was this time last year. The indications are that this class of meat will go up. I do not see how it can be otherwise with all this decrease in the visible supply of hogs. There is also an enormous decrease in the supply of lard There are only 25,000 tierces on hand at Chicago while this time last year there were 72,000 tierces. This makes 26,320,000 lbs. less lard on hand than a year ago. There can be but one outcome of this scarcity. The consumer must pay more for pork and lard. The price of hogs is now high, with the probability that they will go even higher. I see no immediate prospect of their getting any lower,

A Severe Cold For 4 Month

The following letter from A. J. Nusbaum of Batesville Ind tells its own story. "I suffered for three months with a severe cold, A druggist prescribed for me some medicine and a physician prescribed for me yet I did not improve, I tried Foleys Honey and Tar and eight doses cured me, Sold by Wood and Campbell.

The Ill Wind.

That blows nobody good is bent on errands of mischief in fall and winter, It produces that most dangerous of common complaints a bad cold- Your cold will not become bronchitis nor consumption if you make timely use of Allens Lung Balm. Wonderful Freak.

Mr. E. L. Beam of Botland was a caller at the Standard office last Saturday and told us of a freak of nature that surpasses anything in the line of of the marvelous that has ever come to our notice.

Mrs. Beam has a large number of fowls of different kinds and one day last week while she was gathering up eggs she discovered a soft-shelled goose-egg of the regulation size. She took it to the house and broke it. It was a sound egg in every respect—the white and yolk being in perfect condition. She was astonished to find, however, in one extremity of the integment covering the original egg another soft shelled speciman about the size of a guinea egg, This smaller speciman she also broke and was surprised to find it contained the head of a gosling! While not perfect in every detail the eyes and beak were easily discernable. This story of course, has a "fishy" sound but Mr. Beam and his wife are among the most reputable personages in the Botland neighborhood and no one for an instant would question their veracity. Like others who have heard of the incident, Mr. and Mrs, Beam would be pleased to have some one versed in the mysteries of nature to explain the marvellous freak.

The wonderful production is that of a Toulouse goose.—Standard.

Getting Religion.

When it comes to getting religion the negro has the world beaten It is said by those whose memory serves them well that at one church in this city; a protracted meeting was started 27 years ago and is yet in session. It is a common thing to see fifty or sixty of them having their sins washed away in Dowling's pond and it is a common thing to see the same ones baptised over within a few weeks. One of the best "jiners" of any flock is Fred Warren, better known as "Black Diamond" It is said he has "jined" six times and has come forward eight times to make confession of his faith It is some question as to whether he has joined enough, even tho' he holds this record, for his name appears on Judge Walkers books about as often as it does on the church books. —Lawrenceburg IT.

Paine's Celery Compound

Cures

DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, AND STOMACH TROUBLES.

The tortures and evils of dyspepsia and indigestion are experienced by thousands at this time. The dyspeptic's train of evils may be enumerated as follows: feelings of dizziness, languor, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, distension of the stomach, loss of flesh, difficult breathing, and the action of the heart is seriously affected.

All forms of dyspepsia are quickly banished by the use of Paine's Celery Compound. The use of this marvelous medicine allays the inflammation of the nerves centred about the stomach; it opens up the sewers of the body and removes all waste matter; it cleanses the blood; it makes new nerve fibre; it restores digestive power, and promotes bodily strength and activity. Mr. Fred. Ross, Clarendon, Iowa, briefly writes about his happy experience with Paine's Celery Compound as follows:—

"It gives me great pleasure to testify to the merits of Paine's Celery Compound. I can candidly and honestly say it is the best medicine in the world. Two years ago I was suffering from indigestion and nervousness, and was so run down that I could hardly walk without help. I used two bottles of Paine's Celery Compound and got better almost from the first dose, and have had no use for medicine since. I was completely cured."

Barry the Persuasive.

It was said of Barry, the player, that he had a voice which might lure a bird from a tree and at the same time an address and manner the most prepossessing and conciliating. The Dublin theater of which he was proprietor failed, and he was considerably indebted to his actors, musicians, etc. Among others, the master carpenter called at Barry's house and was clamorous in demanding his money. Barry, who was ill at the time, came to the head of the stairs and asked what was the matter.

"Matter enough!" replied the carpenter. "I want my money and can't get it!"

"Don't be in a passion," said Barry. "Do me the favor to walk upstairs, if you please, and we will speak upon the business."

"Not I, Mr. Barry!" said the carpenter. "You owe me £100 already, and if I come up you will owe me £200 before I leave you."

Too Angelic.

There was a certain young minister in Maine who on his first charge was called upon to preach a funeral sermon over a woman. It was his first funeral sermon, and he laid himself out to make an impression and succeeded. The woman had had her faults, but the minister forgot them. This was to be expected, but he extolled her so highly that the poor bereaved husband, sitting there listening, couldn't recognize her by the description. Finally, in a glowing peroration, he pictured God and the archangels and the angels and all the hosts of the redeemed joyously forming a parade to welcome to heaven this "one of the very best of all women." The husband could stand it no longer, and, leaping up, interrupted him with beckoning hand, gasping out: "No, no, elder. Not quite that! She was only 'bout middlin'."

Not In Society.

Of a pretentious but not well read dame of the Victorian period Lady Bulwer used to relate this incident:

The conversation turned on literature one day, and this lady, who aimed at forming a salon, got rather out of her depth.

"Who is this Dean Swift they are talking about?" she whispered at last to Lady Bulwer. "I should like to invite him to one of my receptions."

"Alas, madam," answered Lady Bulwer, "the dean did something that has shut him out of society."

"Dear me! What was that?"

"Well, about a hundred years ago he died."

The Meek and Lowly Editor.

When an editor makes a mistake in his paper, all the world sees it and calls him a liar. When a private citizen makes a mistake, nobody knows it except a few friends, and they come around and ask the editor to keep it out of the paper. When the private citizen dies, the editor is asked to write up all his good qualities and leave out the bad. When the editor dies, the private citizen will say, "Now that old liar will get his deserts."—Cleveland (Okla.) Triangle.

The Black Cap.

The black cap has no specific relation to the hanging of a criminal. Its sinister reputation, its color and the fact that a judge when pronouncing a capital sentence always wears it have combined to attach to it a meaning and symbolism which it does not possess. It is really nothing more than a part of the full dress of a judge.—Genealogical Magazine.

LIFE IN THE NORTHWEST

If you have any idea of changing your location—go into the Northwest—where life is worth living.

It is the coming empire of this Country. Climate and elevation are found in great variety and land will never be as low priced again as it is now. For farming fruit raising and grazing no portion of our Country equals it Irrigation makes the farmer independent where irrigation is practiced and the finest irrigable parts of our Country are in Montana and Washington. The towns and cities are all growing rapidly in the Northwest.

Let me know what you want and we will try to help you There are all sorts of places and kinds of land in the Northwestern States through which the Northern Pacific runs, Don't wait until it is too late to go.

Low Settlers' Rates are in effect during September and October. Write to me where you want to go and I will tell you what it will cost.
